Dedication

Two of Mary Washington's most loved and respected professors will remain in our memories long after we have departed from this campus.

For their sincere interest in each of us, for their stimulating encouragement in our academic pursuits, and for their vast knowledge which they have shared with us, we will always be grateful.

Dr. James H. Dodd, Chairman of the Economics Department, established Sigma Tau Chi and Pi Gamma Mu on this campus. His widely used college textbook in economics is in its fourth edition and his high school economics textbook is in its sixth edition. He has opened many doors of interest and has shown us the vital part that economics plays in our lives. Dr. Eileen K. Dodd (Mrs. James H.), Chairman of the Psychology Department, sponsor of the Psychology Club, and friend of all the students, has set high goals for us to strive toward and has encouraged us patiently in our pursuit of excellence.

The 1962 BATTLEFIELD is dedicated with deepest appreciation to

DR. AND MRS. JAMES H. DODD

For her service to the college,

For her leadership in the realm of activities,

For her many other contributions to Mary Washington College, both in the academic and the extracurricular phases of campus life,

We honor the memory of

Rada Margaret Brown

The members of Rada's class and others who knew her well recognized her quickening mind, her eager spirit and her strong character.

To her work, Rada added zest; to her fun, she added enjoyment; and to her "search for identity", she added unflinching courage.

Rada Brown displayed a high sense of loyalty and honor to her God, her college and herself.

And we, what of us when we think of her? We should also think as Kahlil Gibran has written, "when you are sorrowful, look again in your heart, and you shall see that in truth you are weeping for that which has been your delight."

Foreword

"There are few earthly things more beautiful than a college.
It is a place where those who hate ignorance may strive to know,
Where those who perceive truth may strive to make others see;
Where seekers and learners alike banded together in the search of knowledge,
Will honor thought in all its finer ways,
Will welcome thinkers in distress or in exile,
Will uphold ever the dignity of thought and learning
And will exact standards in these things . . .

“They give to the young in their impressionable years
The bond of a lofty purpose shared,
Of a great corporate life whose links will not be loosed until they die.

They give young people that close companionship for which youth longs,
And that chance of the endless discussion of the themes which are endless
Without which youth would seem a waste of time.

A friendly smile, a word of welcome

It's so nice to have a man around the house

Now I know why I had to come

Relax, Mom, I'm a big girl now

Cheer up, Alice, it could be worse

But, Dr. Castle, I'm not interested in breeding fruit flies

But, sir, the course can't be closed

Oh, for an I. B. M. machine . . .

Do I have to have Saturday classes?

“There are few earthly things more splendid than a college.

In these days of broken frontiers and collapsing values,

When the dams are down and the floods
are making misery,

When every future looks somewhat grim,
And every ancient foothold has become something of a quagmire,

Wherever a college stands, it stands and shines
Wherever it exists, the free minds of men, urged on to full and fair enquiry,

May still bring wisdom into human affairs.

Student Administration

Honor Council

Our most cherished and precious tradition here at Mary Washington College is The Honor System. It is the Mary Washington way of life. The honor code is the foundation of all the college activities and governs the behavior and academic responsibilities of each student.

The committee, although composed of the chairman and the four class presidents, belongs to the students. Each student pledges herself to uphold the highest and strongest personal honor code and to help others uphold the same code. The Honor System has given to Mary Washington an atmosphere of freedom and mutual trust which we all cherish and which we will carry with us beyond our college days.

Student Government Association

The Student Government Association of Mary Washington College is composed of every member of the student body and is a self-governing body. The purpose of the Association is to promote personal responsibility, loyalty, and honor in the individual and to honor and promote the traditions, objectives, and standards of the college. The elected representatives, the Student Council for 1961-1962, have striven to carry out this purpose by encouraging participation and interest of non-Council members of the Association.

The training conferences held for house presidents, freshman counselors, and other student representatives in the spring of 1961 opened the SGA program for the '61-'62 session. The eighth annual Pre-School Conference was a time of excitement, evaluation and planning. The conference theme, "The Choice Is Ours," was well carried out and enhanced the enthusiasm already present. With the arrival of freshmen, attention was focused on guiding and orientating them into our college community. Group meetings, Handbook and Honor Counseling helped them become familiar with college policies and traditions.

A student council research and study committee was formed early in the fall. Out of the work of this committee a revision in the Statement of Purpose of the Association and a Statement of Purpose for Student Council was incorporated in the Constitution of the Association. The Grace Minutes Committee continued the work begun the preceding year and presented a system of Grace Minutes to Student Council. After much hard work and student discussion a modified form of the system was presented to and accepted by the student body. The system went into effect on a trial basis the second semester. The NSA Coordinator and her committee became well known on campus for their enthusiasm and hard work put forth in the planning of the first major evaluation night. The elections committee came forth with a much praised and extremely efficient election schedule. Definite platforms and campaigning took the place of idealized and theoretical election speeches. Christmas came early with the Christmas Party and decorations committees hard at work. The campus was aglow with color and "Christmas Panorama" was the theme. May Day became the talk of the day as the plans of the committees—Welfare, Handbook Revisions, Orientation, etc.—were carried out very efficiently.

By encouraging criticism, both pro and con, and a general feeling of wanting to serve the students, the Student Council opened the lanes of communication and brought to the attention of the Association the need for suggestions, work and interest of all members. With the elections came a spirit of understanding, concern and harmony among the members of the student body. The Student Council of 1961-62 as a realistic, practical body, acting upon student suggestions and requests, led the Association toward its goal as stated in the purpose.

Inter-Club Association

It is the responsibility of the Inter-Club Association of Mary Washington College to coordinate the various club activities on campus as well as to develop a high standard of service to the college for all organizations to follow. Each student may choose from a wide variety of fields and join a club wherein her highest interest and greatest talent can be utilized.

The Inter-Club Association is composed of the presidents of all the recognized clubs and organizations on campus. The government of the Inter-Club Association lies in the hands of the Inter-Club Council which consists of four executive officers, five ex officio members, and representatives from each of the nine groups affiliated with the extra-curricular activities of the campus. The Association supervises and regulates these campus activities and insures a varied and well-balanced program.

During the Freshman Orientation Program, the Inter-Club Association uses this opportunity to initiate the new students into the realms of extra-curricular activities and aids the students in learning to use their leisure time in the most rewarding ways. The point system is set up and successfully executed by the Association to insure the even distribution of responsibilities and leadership.

In addition to regulating the activities of about fifty clubs and participating in the Freshman Orientation Program, the Inter-Club Association holds an annual Open House membership drive which gives students a chance to select whatever organization or organizations they want to join. I. C. A. also plans and executes the honorary tapping assembly which has become the highlight of the organizational year.

Lectures, demonstrations, and attendance at professional performances designed to promote the development of dance are among the activities of the Concert Dance Club. Members are acquired from the new talent continually produced by members of the Junior Dance Group.

Any interested student is eligible for membership in the Junior Dance Group. The members of the club work on creative endeavors and techniques at their twice-weekly meetings. During the year the members participate in various campus activities and produce their own concert in February. The dance groups are an integral part of Mary Washington's fine arts and recreational programs.

Players is open to all who are interested in learning more about the many facets of the theater such as lighting, scenery, make-up, costuming, and acting.

Players, under the direction of the Dramatic Arts Department, successfully produced a challenging season of experimental plays which this year included: Madwoman of Chaillot, Rumpelstiltskin, Blood Wedding, and The Seagull. In addition, members of the direction class presented a series of one-act plays.

This year Players again participated in the College Drama Festival of Virginia in Richmond by presenting Tennessee Williams' one-act play, The Unsatisfactory Supper.

Recreation Association

The Recreation Association, a major campus organization which is open to membership for all Mary Washington students, has as its purpose to promote spirit and good sportsmanship through sports, recreation and fellowship opportunities. It is the main function of RA to offer wholesome recreational activities throughout the school year.

RA plays an intricate role in cooperating with other campus organizations in the freshman orientation program. Soon after entering the gates of M. W. C. new freshmen are greeted by RA members selling beanies. Later the Recreational Association plans an evening of fun and frolic in which the freshmen have an opportunity to dispose of their symbolic headgear. Sports Afternoon is presented to the freshmen to acquaint them with the RA activities and to encourage them to participate.

The Council of the Recreation Association is composed of the chairmen of all RA sponsored clubs and sports. Also vital in the work of RA are the dorm representatives who are responsible for serving as a link between council and the dorms and for keeping the students well informed.

Each year RA coordinates intramural competition and the awarding of a trophy to the dorm with the best participation. All traditional Devil-Goat activities are climaxed annually with a full day of sports events, entertainment and the long-awaited announcement of the year's Devil-Goat winner. Honor teams are also sponsored in basketball, tennis, fencing, and hockey.

It is the hope of the Recreation Association that each student will take advantage of the many available recreational activities and that these will contribute to the enjoyment of her college life.

Y. W. C. A.

The Young Women's Christian Association is the inter-denominational center of religious life on campus. Through the variety of programs, the organization offers a gamut of religious and social experiences promoting the friendship and growth of its members.

Functioning at the core of the organization is the Cabinet composed of committee chairmen and representatives from the freshman class and from each campus denominational group. Six main committees function in areas of campus and community activities. They are campus social service, fine arts, worship, publicity, community social service, and world relatedness. Participation in the work of the committees is by Y. W. C. A. members on a voluntary basis. Activities such as the Big Sister program, Peanut Week, the World University Service Drive, and Religious Emphasis Week are correlated by the committees through the Cabinet.

The major highlight of the Y. W. C. A. program is Religious Emphasis Week, held each February. This year, students were given the opportunity to hear four non-sectarian speakers, authorities in their respective fields, discuss the application of religion both to the individual life and to world affairs. Types of discussion ranged from personal conferences and classroom visitations to lectures and seminar groups. This week offers each individual the stimulation of the challenge and reassessment of personal beliefs and values.

Membership in the "Y" is available to all students on campus and members are informed of plans and activities of the committees and religious groups through biannual meetings of the entire association. Working closely with the Y. W. C. A. are the sponsors, Miss Mary Ellen Stephenson, Mrs. Myra Irby, and Mrs. Margaret Chase.

Mortar Board is a national honor society for senior college women. Its purpose is to provide for the cooperation between senior honor societies for women, to promote college loyalty, to advance the spirit of service and fellowship among university women, to promote and maintain a high standard of scholarship, to recognize and encourage leadership, and to stimulate and develop a finer type of college woman. Membership is based on leadership, scholarship, and service. Each year the Cap and Gown Chapter recognizes the outstanding sophomore when the members of the new chapter are tapped.

The chapter's first project is the presentation of the annual College Traditions Program in order to imbue in the freshmen the spirit and ideals of their college. While in the Information Booth, the members of Mortar Board operate the lost and found service, distribute Concert Series tickets, and conduct prospective students and their parents on tours of the campus. Other projects of the Cap and Gown Chapter include the establishment of a central bureau for graduate study information and the publication of the COLLEGE STUDENT DIRECTORY, the COLLEGE CALENDAR, and the READING LIST.

The 1962 Battlefield

The most outstanding and meaningful tradition here at Mary Washington College is THE BATTLEFIELD. Throughout its pages, one can see a Kaleidoscope of experiences and activities which have made this year memorable.

At the beginning of the year, the calm editors met, selected their staffs and self-confidently proceeded to the task at hand. Within the framework of BATTLEFIELD traditions—clanging pipes, leaking pens, midnight oil, and frayed nerves—production progressed. Forty girls analyzed the campus for new possibilities. The advertising and circulation staffs, footweary and worn, proudly announced an all-time high subscription rate. Everyday campus scenes took on new significance to the imaginative photography staff, as they visualized all they saw as a potential picture. The copy and captions staffs with ink stained hands presented their literary masterpieces for approval. The typing staff with calloused fingertips worked long into the night as the deadline fast approached.

Then—amazingly—it was over. The book was at press. Tension ceased.

We, of the 1962 BATTLEFIELD staff, under the guidance of Dr. Carrol H. Quenzel and Dr. Roger L. Kenvin, have endeavored to portray to each student those outstanding events which have this year at Mary Washington College been significant. It is our hope that this volume will become a priceless heirloom within the framework of tradition.

The Epaulet

The Epaulet is the literary arts magazine of Mary Washington College which is published three times during the academic year. This magazine offers a variety of opportunities for those students interested in publication; it serves as an effective outlet for the creative abilities of Mary Washington students by presenting to others their endeavors in the field of poetry, fiction, essay, music and art. The past several years have seen great innovations not only in the size but in the content of the magazine. The Epaulet is a vital representative of the creative ability of Mary Washington College students.

The Bullet

The traditional role of the Bullet, the college newspaper, is to record the news of the campus people, its organizations and activities.

The staff attempts to incorporate student opinion and campus trends through letters to the editor, opinion columns and editorials.

The Bullet offers to the staff members an opportunity to learn every phase of college journalism from gathering the news to actual printing.

"There are few things more enduring than a college.

Religions may split into sect or heresy.

Dynasties may perish or be supplanted.

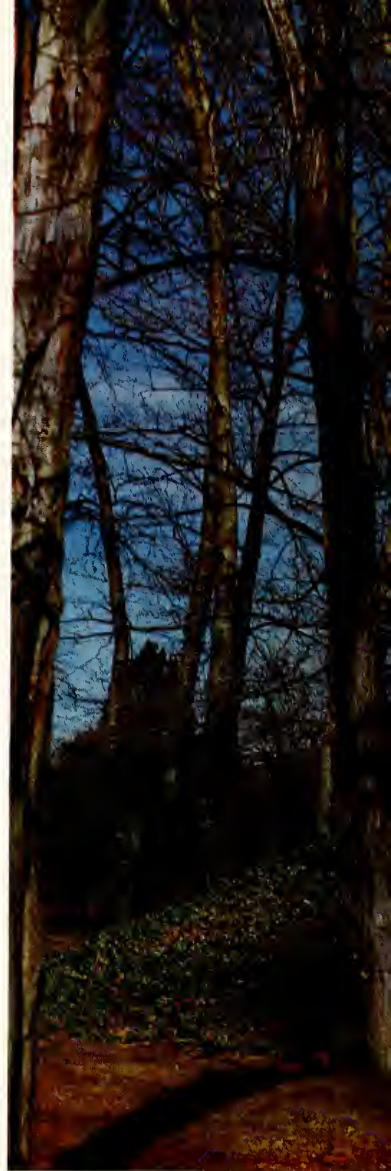

But for century after century the college will continue,

And the stream of life will pass through it,

And the thinker and seeker will be bound together

In the undying cause of bringing thought into the world."

and Faculty

GEORGE WASHINGTON HALL, ADMINISTRATION BUILDING

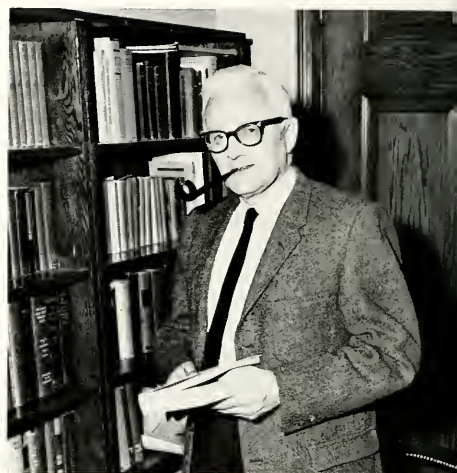

Dr. Grellet C. Simpson

CHANCELLOR OF MARY WASHINGTON COLLEGE
OF THE UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA

At the Chancellor's Convocation this year, Dr. Simpson's address, "Lofty Thought in the Heart of Youth," challenged us as individuals to search for the lofty thought which will have meaning in our future lives. The educational training which we, as students of Mary Washington College, have received has disciplined our minds to explore further for the truth of our convictions.

Always ready to meet the needs of every student, Dr. Simpson, through his competent leadership, has helped Mary Washington College to advance rapidly in the past few years. The Garden Party, which opens every freshman's year, and the Dinner Party, which closes every senior's year, both are given by Dr. and Mrs. Simpson at Brompton. They have become a beautiful and thoughtful tradition which we will long remember. We are indeed fortunate to have as Chancellor of Mary Washington College such a capable and understanding person.

ASSOCIATE DEAN OF MARY WASHINGTON COLLEGE

Dr. Reginald W. Whidden, Associate Dean of Mary Washington College, is a vital element in the Mary Washington tradition. A Shakespearean scholar, Dean Whidden has long been esteemed for his academic achievements, for his leadership in the intellectual life of the campus. Similarly, Dean Whidden is equally respected for his kindness toward the students and his active interest in their academic welfare.

Dean Whidden is indeed a well-established figure on the campus of Mary Washington, one to whom we are deeply indebted.

Dr. Edward Alvey, Jr.

DEAN OF MARY WASHINGTON COLLEGE
OF THE UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA

Because of his excellent administrative ability, his devotion to the school, and his sincere interest in each student, Dean Alvey has become one of the best loved persons on this campus.

We realize that he is highly respected by all his professional colleagues, but we feel that our respect equals, if not surpasses theirs.

As we have progressed from freshmen to seniors, Dean Alvey has helped us to feel increasingly more a part of the campus life. Our campus prides itself on a tradition of friendliness and Dean Alvey has contributed greatly to the creation of a closer relationship between the administration and the students.

MISS MARGARET HARGROVE

Dean of Students of Mary Washington College

Mary Washington students are fortunate to have for Dean of Students so capable a person as Miss Margaret Hargrove.

Her executive and leadership qualities are exemplified in the effectiveness of her coordination of the student desires with administrative policy. Through her close work with the Student Government Association, she seeks to maintain a harmonious and cooperative spirit within the college community.

In addition to her role as an executive, Miss Hargrove is available to the students for guidance and counselling. Her sound judgment and objective insight are respected by all.

Her great range of personal experiences, her remarkable qualities as an individual have made Miss Margaret Hargrove one of the most interesting and stimulating persons on the campus.

MISS KATHERINE F. MORAN

Assistant Dean of Students

All the college community knows and admires Miss Katherine Moran for her efficiency and enthusiasm. She is responsible for coordinating all the social and club functions at Mary Washington College. We are grateful to her for making possible the wide variety of activities that supplement and enrich our academic life.

MISS MARY ELLEN STEPHENSON

Assistant Dean of Students

Miss Mary Ellen Stephenson will long be remembered for her genuine interest, sound judgment and kind understanding. She is ever gracious in her contacts with the students, whether it is talking informally, or discussing a problem of serious nature. To Miss Stephenson, we express our deepest appreciation for all that she has done to make our college years more rewarding.

Mary Washington

The faculty of Mary Washington College implants in the minds of the Students the desire to question preconceived ideas and to search for further knowledge.

Through classroom discussions, the faculty stimulates us in academic pursuits, guides us toward specialization, and encourages our latent creativity. They sponsor and freely participate in campus activities, such as leading dorm seminars, and serving as class and club sponsors, and academic advisors.

Through their wealth of experience and knowledge, they are able to obtain for us visiting lecturers and supplementary material to increase our range of knowledge.

Drs. Cover and Kelly . . . advising the bewildered on their schedules

College Faculty

The informal office or afterclass discussions, and their willingness to help and advise have made our years at Mary Washington College more meaningful and lasting.

But above this, and a good deal more valuable to us personally, is their willingness to be friends. Their deep personal interest in our welfare, be it academic or extra-curricular, is our most prized gift from our faculty.

We gratefully acknowledge the accomplishments of our faculty and to them is our deepest appreciation for their work to make our education as thoroughly well-rounded as possible.

"The choice is always ours. Then, let me choose
The longest art, the hard Promethean way
Cherishingly to tend and feed and fan
That inward fire, whose small precarious flame,
Kindled or quenched, creates
The noble or the ignoble men we are,
The worlds we live in and the very fates,
Our bright or muddy star,"

Senior Class Officers

George Washington auditorium, caps and gowns, "Pomp and Circumstance"—our first convo. We had finally made it, we were really seniors. As we took our seats our thoughts drifted back three years to the first time we had sat in G. W. auditorium—freshman orientation assemblies, green beanies instead of black mortar boards, the singing of the Alma Mater for the first time.

And we remembered our freshman year. Auntie Mame came to Mary Washington in "Metamorphosis"—our first class project and a hit musical. We elected our first class officers and began to feel a part of the campus.

Sophomore year we avoided the traditional slump by concentrating on more class projects to get more money for the big weekend junior year. We all crowded into Randolph rec room to discuss bridge benefits, jazz concerts.

Junior year finally arrived—the halfway mark. We saw members of our class as house presidents, freshmen counselors. We saw ten-inch snowfalls. We saw the water in Westmoreland cease to flow. And still we thought of money, money, money as we planned the Roaring Twenties Card Party, the jazz concert, the Junior Fashion Show. The big weekend finally arrived complete with class ring, favorite date, a South Sea Island in the ballroom. Suddenly exams were upon us, the summer, then—

Our wandering thoughts returned to G. W. auditorium and the Chancellor's address. We rose to sing the Alma Mater and our thoughts leaped ahead to June, the last wearing of the caps and gowns, the last singing of the Alma Mater, the last marching up the aisle.

Tri-Unit

The scene was Ball parlor, September, 1961; the cast, the Class of 1962. We draped Phoebe with the academic hoods and trooped out in our academic gowns to serenade the Chancellor and then settled down in the roles of seniors in Tri-Unit.

The parlor soon became quite familiar to us as we carried suiteases out on Fridays and back in on Sundays, as we met dates in dress uniform for the Marine Ball, as we discussed our first bridge benefit. The holiday season soon arrived, and we decked the parlor with stars and golden angels, held a twisting party on the balcony, and then departed until the next year.

1962 brought us back in through the parlor to midnight oil and exams. And suddenly it seemed that the second semester and the last few months of school were rushing past. Heels tapped across the parlor as we rushed off to school with bag lunches or dashed over to the Placement Bureau for a job interview. May arrived complete with a queen and court. And we began looking forward to June, signing out with Mrs. G. for the last time, leaving Tri-Unit for grad school, career or marriage—the future.

Class of '62 hits Broadway

With sunshine and smiles came sophomore year

Our outstanding sophomore—Adrienne

Junior Ring Dance, the long-awaited moment

Juniors

*Sitting: C. Brown, Mrs. Castle, Dr. Castle
Standing: S. Rutan, B. Loving, T. Hansbrough, S. Hughes, B. Wharton*

Junior Class Officers

We noted that each Junior Class has recorded they were extremely surprised to find themselves juniors. On the contrary, we arrived on campus fully aware that having been sophomores we were almost certain, in the natural course of events, to be juniors and so we were quite prepared for the responsibilities and red letter days of that long yearned-for year.

Our house presidents, freshmen counsellors in freshmen dormitories, and officers had the fun of helping to orientate our sister class and reported there never had been less verdant and more versatile newcomers to our campus than the Class of 1963.

Our matchless match campaign was unnotched in success. The bridge benefit "bridged the miles from M. W. C. to Hawaii", where in mu-mus we played cards beneath palm trees and listened to soft Hawaiian music.

Campaigning for senior offices, tabu for many years, brought a much needed spirit of enthusiasm to elections. All the candidates were well introduced and their attributes loudly acclaimed by their campaign managers. Certainly everyone knew why and for whom she voted, and vote she did.

We traveled the Road to Greece for our Ring Dance. There in the ruins of a classic Greek garden we received our rings from our 1962 Apollos.

The Spring Fashion Show captured the spirit of our class, dignified, sophisticated yet practical. Finally Senior Day phoned the old motto "It's pleasant to labor for those we love."

So ended a very special year and we watched the Class of 1962 march solemnly down the aisle to Pomp and Circumstance, looking forward to next year when we would be seniors.

Westmoreland

Juniors at last, we welcomed our upper-class privileges of dating local men one night during the week and one o'clock permissions on Saturday night.

Christmas vacation came and disappeared too quickly. Many new diamonds and pins were added to the dorm decorations. Then exams! Westmoreland was like a tomb.

Second semester was here before we knew it. Our classmates were running for the top offices. Excitement ran high as the winners were announced.

The Juniors were scattered, but everyone was busy planning for the Big Night. Ring Dance was in April, then we had something to show for our long years of toil.

The end of May came around—ending with exams. We were eagerly awaiting the Summer vacation for new experiences were to be had by all . . . we said farewell, all looking forward to our final year at M. W. C.

Wonder when Glenn was at Quantico?

"Let's twist again, like we did last summer"

All I need is a ring for my nose

Shut up and deal!

Bushnell

Again through the halls of Bushnell echoed the voices of all four classes—each working with the other to tie us into one big happy bundle.

The Marshmallow Tree “stuck” us together as we celebrated our White Christmas in the dorm. Fifteen marshmallows on the tree for every trip we made through the parlor.

Second semester with the introduction of grace minutes, the new platform-type Student Government campaigns and its new burst of study enthusiasm carried us on to June.

Some of us left for the last time, but for all of us the happy memories of our work and enjoyment during this year in Bushnell linger on.

Another all-night session in the making?

Caught again—sneaking off to the library?

Off to Scotty's

Marye The Spanish House

Spanish, only, is spoken in Marye, the residence for at least one year, of all Spanish majors. The scene of meetings, seminars, parties, all conducted in Spanish, Marye is fast becoming recognized for its success in its experiment to increase the residents fluency through practical experience. Sparkling with enthusiasm, any Marye resident will gladly expound upon the benefits of small dorm living. And in case you don't speak Spanish, they are bilingual and speak English from noon Saturday until Monday.

Brent The French House

It is the requirement for all French majors to live for one year in Brent, the French House. French is spoken at all times during the week, thus increasing the residents' proficiency in the language. Special speakers, desserts, and studies of France are among the activities of the French House girls. The closeness of the girls, their enthusiasm and their increased knowledge of their major field are evidence of the success of this small dorm's program.

Sophomores

The campus was filled with the sounds of fond greetings and "I just can't believe that we're now sophomores" as the spirited class of 1964 again invaded the campus.

We quickly adjusted to our newly acquired status and, endowed with that "sophomore swing", easily swung into campus activities. "High on Marye's Hilltop" charcoal-brown blazers were visible everywhere—in the classrooms, waiting in the long lines at Seacobeck, and in attendance at C-Shoppe seminars.

The sale of Devil-Goat pencils and the sponsorship of Coed Day were successful projects for our class to raise money and to promote spirit.

As our sophomore year drew to a close, it was with regret that we had to bid farewell to our sister class and many of our own classmates, but with anticipation and enthusiasm that we anxiously awaited becoming UPPERCLASSMEN!

Mason Hall

The Golden Horseshoe

The Golden Horseshoe! We've arrived! After the rash of getting settled and greeting old friends we started the old routine—studying. But it wasn't long before most of us were off to the Marine Ball, Openings at U. of Va., and Pan-Hells at Randolph Macon. Then mid-semester exams struck—Who didn't get a deficiency?

Christmas decorations! Mason's pink parlor with its Star of Bethlehem seemed to glow. Old St. Nick up on his sputnik beamed with excitement as Randolph's Red received first prize for the second year in a row.

Oh! The screams of delight and sighs of disappointment when the grades came out after semester break. The Sophomore Slump had affected some of us. But the snow soon melted and the signs of spring rejuvenated the campus. Then, of course, was our new class project handed down from last year's Sophomores—Co-ed Day.

Realizing the end of our wonderful year was coming we said goodbye to our sister class. There was sadness in our hearts but also a feeling of anticipation for the future endeavors of the members of both classes.

Marshall

When the doors opened in September, the once silent halls were filled with the laughter and chatter of 146 freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors. From that moment Marshall has helped us realize the deep traditions of loyalty that were put to root a year ago.

After the initial epidemic of stiff muscles from the daily walks up the hill, we settled down to the mischief, excitement, and study of college life. Christmas came along with our theme of gold and our sing-along Christmas party. Spring brought the arrival of freshmen blazers, sophomore tweeds, junior ring dance, and senior pomp and circumstance.

Through it all we built upon the traditions already basic to Marshall Hall but, more important, we learned to share our activities with all—not one of the four classes.

Mrs. Prasse always gracious with visitors

"In pursuit of excellence."

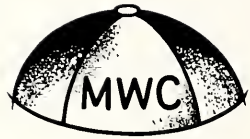

"Ain't love grand?"

Anne Fairfax

That rich, home-cooking aroma you think you smelled was true! Within the doors of Anne Fairfax dwell senior Home Economics majors. There, for one semester, they manage the house as if it were their home. Living within a budget, entertaining guests, decorating the house are all part of their activities. Need a skirt hemmed or a dress altered? Anne Fairfax is the place to go. A pleasant, friendly atmosphere prevails, making Anne Fairfax a delightful touch of home here on campus.

Freshmen

OFFICERS: Sitting: L. Basheer, Mr. and Mrs. Vance, G. Crowder. Standing: R. Whitehead, P. Partridge, D. Oldfield. Missing: J. Painter, D. Tierney

Freshman Class Officers

"I'd rather be a Devil than a Goat!" became the password for membership in the Class of 1965. Bright red beanies perched atop the heads of some five hundred fifty awesome but eager freshmen who, at first, thought nothing of tramping across the campus and dumping piles of books on the cafeteria steps—but haughty upperclassmen soon shamed them into keeping to the sidewalks and depositing books in the coatrooms only. After days of filing into George Washington Auditorium for orientation assemblies, matching new names with new faces, rearranging schedule cards and waiting in long lines for every meal, shy freshmen turned into bold freshmen, anticipating the hour they could yell off the red beanies which "marked" them. At last, the night of the Pep Rally—success for the Devils!

From this day forward there were many firsts for the eager freshmen: November came and with it the Class' first election—class officers; the first serenade in honor of the juniors, our sister class; the first class meeting; the election of class advisors; and the scrimping and painful task of paying class dues.

With the turn of the semester and the harrowing experience of final exams behind them, weary freshmen took their places among the official ranks of college students. As the Class of 1965, they look forward to what the future holds in store for them in the next three years on the Hill.

Willard

"Oh, Willard is the best . . ." rang through the halls as every inhabitant learned the song which was to be our theme song and inspiration from the very beginning of Freshman year.

Friendly words and big, warm smiles greeted us as we unloaded all our earthly possessions and stepped into our new life at MWC. We grew to love our new friends, dorm parties, popcorn and pizza; and we learned to look upon "lights out" and study hours as blessings in disguise.

At Christmas time, Willard had exclusive rights to Santa's workshop and a hard-fought second place; and when it came to talent, we brought home the plaque; both the class president and the Legion Bowl Queen came from our halls.

We look forward to the Golden Horseshoe and becoming "experienced sophomores," but we'll always cherish the memory of the fun and the struggle we had here.

Forget the quality; we just want volume.

I know my toothbrush is here somewhere.

So what if the sleeves are too long?

Virginia

"Hey, look us over, lend us an ear, we're all in clover—Virginia Dorm is here!" And here we were—from different states, different schools, and different families—making Virginia Dorm our new home!

The girls in white, the handbooks in red, "How far is the darn town anyway?" "Where's your beanie, please?" "Where's my trench coat—it's a fire drill!" But soon we became acclimated to the millions of meetings, the lines at lunch time, and the empty coke machines on Saturday nights.

Christmas in blue made Virginia a heaven for those frost bitten, love smitten dancing partners. Vacation . . . , exams . . . , vacation . . . , grades. Another vacation needed but another semester proceeded.

Baby oil and iodine, May Court and class officers, spring and cherry blossoms—"I'd rather be a devil than a goat—I'd rather be a sophomore than a freshman—We're ready to leave now but we'll never forget our freshman year, our first year on the hill, our dorm, Virginia Dorm—"Hey look out world, here we come!"

What do you mean no trump?

And 10 miles out . . .

"All, hail dear Alma Mater . . ."

Betty Lewis

Chaos...beanies and bulletin boards...young ladies in white...a basement with rooms that had bars on the windows...these were among the many things that faced us on that first frantic day of our freshman year. We were known by most as the "poor kids that had to face that hill", however we considered ourselves the "privileged few".

We had our catastrophes such as the long cold week that we were without heat while our new furnace was being installed; but we also had our happy events. Everyone was thrilled when we won third place in the Christmas decorations contest with our Lavender theme. We also took great pride in establishing, for the first time for Betty

Lewis, a Seminar Program offering us an opportunity to extend our intellectual curiosity beyond the classroom.

After our first college exams, the familiar blue books, the snow, suddenly spring came and with it came a new sparkle in our eyes as we passed the winter blues and faced with anticipation our summer vacation and the idea of becoming sophomores.

Eighty-one girls, a dormitory, and college life... Betty Lewis; an outwardly typical Mary Washington situation, but the smallness of the dorm, the individuality of the girls and the warmth of the Head Resident made our freshman year in Betty Lewis unique.

A semester's work to learn in a few hours

Have a bite—then try again

Fellowship at the Faculty Tea

Dr. Oliver and Dr. Woodward participate in the weekly seminar

Trench Hill

Life at Trench Hill, a dormitory of twenty girls has two primary purposes, the weekly seminar and an experiment in small group living. Inherent in our daily lives are bike-riding, discussions and creative expression through our academic and extra-curricular activities. Our outstanding occurrences this year included the Christmas decorations, the faculty tea, a trip to the Arena Stage in Washington to see The American Dream, and our Halloween raid on campus.

Epilogue

High on Marye's hilltop, within the college gates, among the columns, built into this framework is life at Mary Washington College.

From the day we donned our beanies until the day we walk up college drive in our academic regalia we have gradually become part of that framework, part of that tradition.

Life at Mary Washington College is dynamic—always alive, always progressing. In our pursuit of excellence, we, the students, have recognized that the ground on which we lived and learned is holy ground, for therein we have the challenge and opportunity to search for our identity and for that “lofty thought” which will give each of us a reason for being.

The 1962 BATTLEFIELD Staff has attempted to portray the life of our campus

Within the Framework of Tradition

A Salute to the Advertisers

I would like to take this opportunity to thank each of the advertising firms for the major part they have played in the production of the 1962 BATTLEFIELD.

Their support and good will have made possible what we feel is an outstanding yearbook. We are proud to have each of our old and new friends represented in our advertising section.

On behalf of the students of Mary Washington College, I wish to express their appreciation not only for the contributions you, the advertisers, have made toward a successful yearbook but also for the services you have rendered throughout the years.

NOW — the time you've been waiting for becomes a time to look back on . . . and build on.

Suddenly, those long-seeming school years are over. What was a daily way of life has become a memory.

This is as it should be. These memories have a purpose. They are the foundation for a future.

You will have more to say about this future of yours than you ever did about the years just past. You—not a teacher or a parent—will be making the decisions. Though teachers and parents can help you, still you're the responsible party.

Being the boss of your own future is a big job. No question about it. And because of this, it is also an exciting and satisfying experience.

American Viscose Corporation, as a member of this community, welcomes you in your new status as a graduate. We offer you all possible encouragement, and wish you success and satisfaction.

By retaining a competent Architect, an Owner will have immediate assurance that his building program will be conceived and executed in an attractive, efficient and economical manner. It is a well established fact that a structure designed by an Architect retains its value through the years and normally continues to function in a higher degree than one built without the benefit of architectural services.
